

HAWAI'I ISLAND MARKET UPDATE

MARCH 2026

Hawai'i Island's housing market in March reflected a mix of stabilization and adjustment across regions, with single-family home sales totaling 166 transactions (-11% YoY) island-wide. Kailua-Kona continued to anchor overall volume despite a pullback in both sales (-16% YoY) and median price (-19% YoY), pointing to normalization at the higher end of the market. In contrast, areas such as Kamuela (Waimea) saw increased sales activity (+50% YoY), reflecting continued demand at a slightly lower median sales price (-7% YoY). The condo market showed stronger momentum, with median prices rising 25% year over year to $775,000 and days on market improving to 52 days (-24% YoY), signaling more efficient movement of well-positioned inventory. Overall, March highlights a market shaped by regional and price-point variation, where demand remains present but increasingly selective across the island.
